

BUILDING INCLUSIVE LEADERS

2021 GRATITUDE REPORT

Dear Community,

She is a fierce girl of color who was on a steady track until her dad died from COVID-19. She had to take on a second job and her anxiety started to take over. Her mentor was there to listen – and it helped. She is now thriving as a high school senior, already accepted into three colleges.

She is a Muslim first-generation college student. Afraid to raise her voice because women in her culture aren't supposed to be heard. Her mentor encouraged her to journal and explore the cultural differences that made her uncomfortable. She wrote and wrote and wrote and was awarded a full-ride college scholarship for her essay.

She is a brilliant girl from an orthodox Jewish community, where no girl had ever exceeded eighth grade. Her mentor found her a tutor to pass her GED and college entrance exams. She now has four full-time finance career offers in hand upon her graduation in May.

These are but a few of the extraordinary LiveGirl stories. These brilliant, fierce girls all have the power inside of them, but they need equity, support, and access to thrive. They need an inclusive community free of bias, stereotypes, and discrimination. Last year, these girls - along with 2,036 others - found that at LiveGirl and rose.

As we take a breath and emerge from the pandemic, we must take stock of where we are today. The pandemic has heightened the mental health crisis among young people, especially girls. A staggering 70% of females report experiencing mental health concerns. To combat this reality, we have strengthened our focus on mental health. The very nature of what we do, fostering connections and building self-esteem, facilitates positive mental health. Additionally, we have partnered with Silver Hill Hospital to provide mental health training to all of our mentors and provide free 1:1 mentoring through SHE CARES.

We have also increased our focus on career readiness through SHE WORKS, because we are determined to disrupt the sexism and racism inherent in networking and hiring. This program provides innovative career-readiness training and access to paid internships. We are equipping young women to lead in the workplace.

For this and more, in 2021 we were recognized on national stages for our innovative leadership development and mentoring programming. We were featured in The New York Times, at the Yale Women's Leadership Launch, and at the National Association of Girls' Schools Conference. But our biggest reward is seeing our girls matriculate to college and receive full-time job offers! This is how we will close the female leadership gap.

We are poised to continue growing our reach and impact in 2022. Together, we can build an equal, inclusive future; one that gives all girls the skills, mentors, and access to thrive.

In Gratitude,

Sheri West

BUILDING CONFIDENT LEADERS

BUILDING AN EQUAL, INCLUSIVE FUTURE LEADERSHIP | MENTORING | SISTERHOOD | CAREER READINESS

Founded in 2014, LiveGirl, Inc. is a Connecticut-based nonprofit organization that builds confident, inclusive leaders. Our mission is to prepare the next generation of diverse, brave female leaders with the skills, community, and connections so that ALL girls may thrive and make a positive impact on the world. Our vision is to contribute to a world free from both gender and racial inequality.

PROBLEM	LIVEGIRL SOLUTION
External systemic barriers (gender norms, discrimination, gender gap) hold women and girls back.	Advocate loudly on behalf of all girls. Drive policies and practices that open doors to girls and ensure equality. Debunk stereotypes & provide visibility to diverse, nontraditional female role models.
Internal barriers ("confidence crisis") hold girls back. Confidence in girls plummets during middle school and never recovers.	Provide free evidence-based leadership development that builds self-esteem, social emotional intelligence, empathy, agency/advocacy, and college/career readiness. Provide roadmap for girls to grow from middle school ("lead self") to high school ("lead others") to college ("lead in the workforce").
The pandemic has disproportionately and negatively impacted girls' mental health. Only 4% of teen girls will talk to a parent, teacher, or counselor when feeling sad, anxious, or depressed.	Provide free 1:1 mentoring and equip diverse mentors with mental health training.
Racism and sexism permeate all aspects of career-readiness processes (from networking to hiring). 91% of college students attain internships through connections.	Equip young women with career-readiness skills and provide access to paid internships at companies that demonstrate female leadership.
Girls of color are ready to lead but disproportionately impacted by all of the above.	Center organizational lens and solutions-making on girls of color and provide diverse representation through Board, staff, mentors and role models.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

CONFIDENCE CLUB

The pandemic has heightened the mental health crisis among young people, especially girls.

Confidence Clubs meet weekly with a Professional Mentor. The curriculum-based program provides girls with a positive adult role model and creates a BRAVE space for girls to develop self-esteem, social emotional intelligence, and empathy, the building blocks of a confident, inclusive leader.

30+ PARTNERS INCLUDE:

Boys & Girls Clubs of Connecticut, CT public schools and libraries, Carver Center, The Connecticut Institute for Refugees and Immigrants, Toquet Teen Hall, Trackside Teen Center, and other youth organizations.

"What I liked best about the Confidence Club program was that we are able to share freely and express our feelings. At school, I can't share without being judged. At Confidence Club, everyone listens."

CAMP LIVEGIRL

Camp LiveGirl sets a course for girls to become confident, inclusive leaders in a fun, team-based environment. Our evidence-based BRAVE LEADERS ACADEMY provides impactful inclusive leadership development, while our team-based activities, fierce female role models, and STEM designLab inspire!

Now more than ever, the need for girl empowerment and preparing the next generation of female leaders is clear and urgent. Research has shown that girls-only settings promote a greater “can do” attitude, a greater impact on young women’s social self-confidence, a more effective environment for personal development, and a more supportive environment to pursue STEM and leadership opportunities.

2021 IMPACT SCHOLARS

RANEASE BROWN, Cincinnati Music Conservatory '25 — Rose Fish Legacy Scholar

Ranease has been involved in LiveGirl since 2015. She has truly found her voice and grown into an authentic and confident leader. She has been a high school mentor, summer camp counselor, and senior fellow. She shares her contagious joy and her powerful “just-been-there” mentoring. Through her scholar essay, Ranease shared how LiveGirl helped her learn self-love. She wrote, “I am (now) proud to say that I am a confident, Black, Christian, educated, and beautiful girl from the inside out who has had to push through a lot to get where I am.”

NEYA KRISHNAN, Tufts University '25 — Passion for Action Scholar

Neya has truly gone above and beyond to contribute her talents to the LiveGirl community. She gifts us with her original poetry, serves as a mentor, a camp counselor, and an intern. She is a young woman who is straightforward, kind, passionate, and creative. Through her work, you can see her finding ways to impact and influence the communities around her for the better. Neya has organized numerous community efforts that support life-changing impacts across the world, including: fundraising to sell Kenyan-inspired Rafiki bracelets, partnering with Letters2Strangers to destigmatize mental health and increase access to affordable care and she is currently leading a tree-planting initiative with the non-profit “Tree Plenish”.

JORDAN MALLIS, UCONN '25 — Livewell Impact Scholar

Since joining LiveGirl in 2018, Jordan has always been first to volunteer to help and attend LiveGirl programs. Jordan served as a high school mentor at our leadership summits and at Confidence Club. She has been on our Leadership Council since it has been founded, has done our LiveGirl League program twice, and just finished her second year as a LiveGirl senior fellow. On top of all of this and her school work, Jordan also brought one of her projects to life: The Skid Project promotes recycling and upcycling old compact discs to decrease their presence in landfills.

IMPACT INTERVIEWS

BREANA CHERY AITE '22 STAMFORD, CT

What have you learned that you will use in the future?

I've learned many things from the LiveGirl league but I think the biggest thing was that it's not what you give back to your community, it's the how and why. You want to give back in a way that reflects your character and passion.

What is your favorite memory at LiveGirl?

My favorite memory at LiveGirl was when I was a camp counselor and we were having a discussion about natural hair and the negative stigmas associated with it. While people spoke of their experiences, everyone listened diligently and showed that we were heard. Receiving the comfort and affirmation from the camp director Alison helped me recognize the beauty of my crown that I was taught to hate.

“My father passed to Covid in 2020 and it was an unexpected change that I had no idea how to adjust to. LiveGirl League was a community that taught me how give back in a way that was unique to myself and own experience. Through their support, I was able to begin this group and heal while also helping others heal.”

KIRAN JAGTIANI RUTGERS UNIVERSITY '22

What is something you accomplished at LiveGirl that you are proud of?

My biggest accomplishment at LiveGirl was developing my professional skills. When I first joined the organization as an intern in 2019, I was not confident in my abilities to obtain an internship as I am a woman of color studying finance; over the years, many people discouraged me, claiming that finance was an industry for men, particularly white men. However, after working with LiveGirl and being mentored by Sheri West, I was able to grow my career exactly how I planned. I taught myself how to network, obtained several internships & full-time offers over the past two years, and was able to intern in finance at Verizon and JP Morgan & Chase, while also securing a full-time position at Bloomberg LP in equity research post-graduation (2022), something I told myself was "impossible" during my freshman year.

“As a woman of color in the Northeast, I never realized how my diverse background inherently affected my own self-confidence. I wish I had discovered LiveGirl sooner as I strongly believe it would've had a tremendous positive impact on my high school experience.”

Keynote Speaker:

Mari Copeny, "Little Miss Flint" Activist

Mari is a 14-year-old from Flint, Michigan known globally as Little Miss Flint. She first rose to the public spotlight when her letter to President Obama about the water crisis prompted him to visit the city and survey the water crisis himself. That visit ultimately led to him approving $100 million dollars in relief for the city of Flint.

5 YEAR STRATEGIC GOALS

GOAL 1

Increase reach to girls who need us most. Strengthen leadership development models from grade 5 through college.

GOAL 2

Deliver innovative skill development, mentorship, and experiences (responsive to environment).

GOAL 3

Deepen quality of connection and retention of girls. Strengthen community-based learning.

GOAL 4

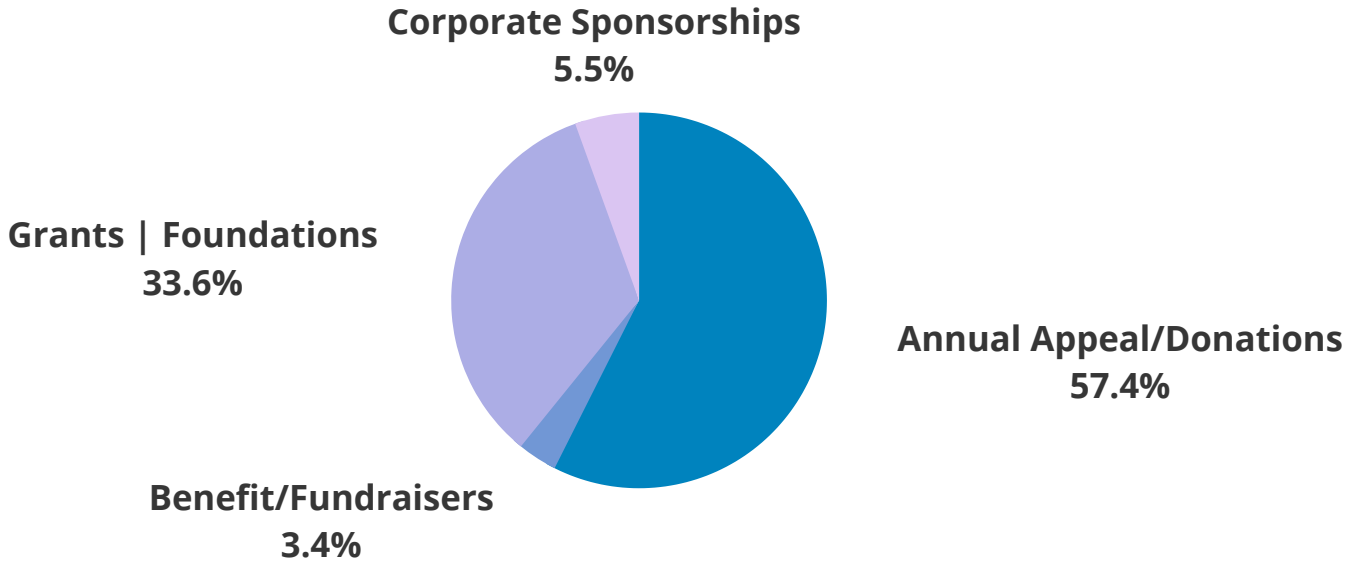

Amplify female voices and be recognized as a best-in-class girls' leadership organization and advocate for equality and inclusion.

GOAL 5

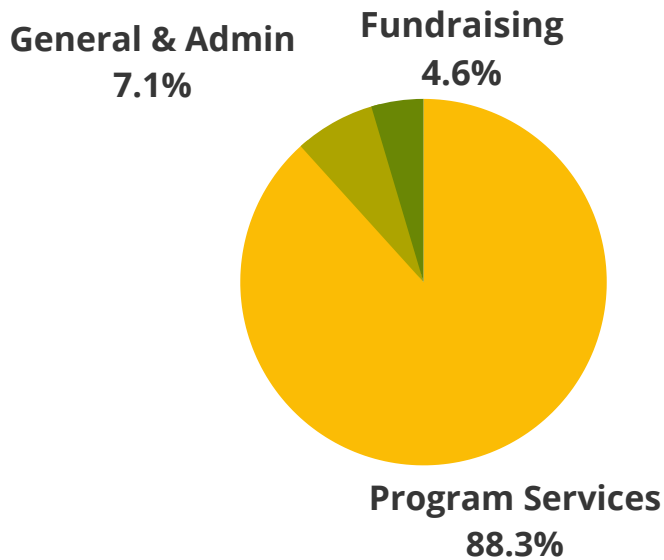

Increase revenue to sustain operational needs and provide transformative opportunities for the LiveGirl Community.
